Real Bargains!

We have a small stock of Shoes and Slippers for Ladies and some Men's hats that MUST go.

We shall auction them off in front of our store and nothing will be reserved. You will get them at your own price. We do not intend to handle these goods any more and for that reason they will sell for whatever is offered. There will be a splendid chance for you to get big bargains while this stock lasts. To miss this auction means money lost to you.

Will Dunbar went to Chattanooga Monday morning to visit his sister, Mrs. Martin Burlbach.

There is a heavy mast in sight for this year. That means many fat hogs killed right out of the woods without costing the owners a cent for grain to fatten them. It does seem nature has almost outdone herself this year in providing feed and food for our people.

Miss Violet Haley entertained a few of her club friends Thursday afternoon as a courtesy to her cousin, Miss Lou Haley, of Chattanooga. Music and fancy work were the diversions of the afternoon and a delightful time was spent.

Miss Hattie Hyder, of Harriman, arrived Friday to pass several days here the guest of Miss Bessie Potter and other friends.

There will be a union Sunday school picnic at Howard Springs, Thursday, August 5. All the Sunday schools are expected to take part and a most delightful day is expected.

Can that grouch and wear a smile.

Gasoline for sale at the Chronicle office for 20 cents a gallon.

not been five years a resident of this county. Mr. Peek returned the commission with the proper information. Now the question arises who will be appointed to fill the vacancy. It would have been hard to find a man in the county who, in our estimation, would have discharged the duties of the office with more fairness than would Mr. Peek had he been eligible to the place. As it was it came to him entirely unsought and something of a surprise. It is very probable the return of the commission was something of a surprise to the state board.

Advertising does pay as the editor of the Chronicle had a chance last week to find out. We lost our glasses a few days ago and thought we dropped them between the Chronicle office and home, but have since found we were mistaken. The little daughter of Dell West found them in front of the Christian church. When we remembered that we did go to church one evening that explained it. But that little ad. in the Chronicle brought the glasses home and that was the important point.

Oliver Schlicher is doing in a farming way what very few men in the county have been able to do. He is wintering two head of cattle for each acre of land he cultivates. He is working in a small way but the results he is getting are worth the attention of older heads. He is only 19 years of age, but last year he kept six head of cattle on what he grew on three acres. This year he has ten head and has five acres under cultivation with the firm belief that he will be able to carry them through the winter in good shape. How many farmers are there in the county who are keeping two head of cattle for each acre they cultivate? Very few we will bet a cookie.

A very pleasant and unusual occurrence took place at Monterey last week. S. Horn, who lived for a year or two in this county and who is remembered with much pleasure by those who learned to know him, was attending a revival meeting at Monterey, where he now lives, and the church people did him the honor to turn the meeting over to his direction for one day. He had called all his sons home for a family reunion and they were all present to see him direct the course of the meeting. It is well understood that he feels a deep interest in the welfare of all young people and on this occasion he so conducted the meeting as to impress deeply upon the young people the importance of right living. Asking Mr. Horn to take charge of the meeting was a very pleasant compliment worthily bestowed and resulted in much good, is the feeling of his many friends.

Miss Lola Belle Snodgrass went to Rockwood Saturday afternoon to meet her friend, Miss Helen Stender, of Charleston, N. C., who will visit Miss Lola Belle for several days. They arrived here Sunday morning.

Last week L. H. Bell, at Howard Springs, was cutting his hay crop for this year. He says he will have hay enough to winter 100 to 125 head of cattle, but has only one-fourth the cattle needed to consume the hay.

Miss Bessie Potter entertained a few of her friends Thursday evening. They first went to the picture show, then returned and spent the remainder of the evening playing cards. Those present were: Misses Lelah DeGolia, Nora Jones, Violet Haley, Lou Haley, Eula Bishop, Lola Belle Snodgrass; Messrs. Litton Thurman, Ernest Burnett, Jonas Snodgrass, Will Guthrie, Lin Martin, Frank Potter, Andy Horn.

Last week we received a sample of Burbank potatoes from M. F. Hargett, of Westei, that were about the limit in size. Six weighed six and a half pounds. That they would have been considerably larger had they remained in the ground until maturity is evidenced by the fact that the skin was slipping from them, which showed them to be green. Mr. Hargett says they were raised on ground that was heavily manured. Had the weather been on the dry order there is every probability that he would have had a lot of very scabby potatoes for it is well known that heavy applications of manure without excessive rainfall produces scabby tubers. As the weather was right he will come out all right. He thinks he will harvest forty bushels from the one and three-fourths bushels of seed he planted.

Mrs. Silas Matthews, of Pomona, arrived in town Saturday on her return from visiting with relatives and friends at Soddy and Crab Orchard.

G. C. Peek was appointed as one of the election commissioners for this county and in due course received his commission as such. It then occurred to Mr. Peek that he lacked one condition of filling the bill in full: He has

George Brookhart was up from Peavine over Sunday.
